THE POWER OF INVOLVEMENT

Norwich Science Festival is an award-winning, city-wide event that is much-loved by the thousands of visitors who join us each year. Over eight days, we celebrate science, showcase innovation and inspire visitors of all ages with our programme of events and free hands-on activities.

Raise brand awareness, reach new audiences and meet your CSR values with our fantastic range of opportunities to partner with this high profile, feel-good community Festival.

Our partnership packages offer:

- ★ Brand association with a much-loved city Festival, which brings affordable and accessible STEAM engagement to the people of Norwich and Norfolk.
 - ★ A platform through which to reach our remarkable and diverse audiences.
 - ★ Opportunities to raise your brand awareness, share your expertise and align with our strong reputation.
 - ★ Profile visibility through our brochure (25,000 copies), website (230,000+ views during the Festival period), and social media and e-news (total 21,000+ subscribers).
 - ★ Complimentary tickets to Festival events – great for rewarding your own customers, clients and staff.
 - ★ Opportunities to network and build lasting partnerships, by joining the Norwich Science Festival and The Forum family.
- We work closely with our sponsors and partners to ensure the best package to suit your interests, objectives and needs - including building bespoke opportunities.

“Norwich Science Festival helps educate families in a fun and interactive way about science, and it is our pleasure to have sponsored the Festival for the past two years. It is always a joy to work with the Festival team and The Forum and support and engage visitors at Chantry Place and across Norwich with science when the Festival takes place.”

Paul McCarthy, General Manager

“Howes Percival is proud to be a partner once again of the Norwich Science Festival. The Festival showcases Norwich as a city of science and tech innovation, and engages with young people across the East of England, inspiring future talent. We are delighted to support this fantastic initiative for the third year running.”
